Vol. 113 No. 52 | Cameron, Milam County, Texas, Monday September 11, 1972 | 8 Pages Today

Now With F.M.L.

Let's see:

Incumbents or former incumbents in the Democratic Party for U. S. Senator, governor, lt. governor, house speaker, attorney general were passed over by the times and the voters in the May and June primaries.

One former attorney general, Will Wilson, lost his job in the Nixon Administration. Waggoner Carr, former house speaker and attorney general, is under indictment.

Two years ago, the land commissioner changed in the Democratic Primary.

Will a consensus vote add to this list in November as it did in May? One never knows. Common Cause may know.

NOW-NOW-NOW

This could be a case for what your Herald has been saying all through the 1960s: Things are changing.

Texans like to know to what extent they are changing. And no one knows. It is not likely Texas is a new California in terms of over-extension of population and tax base. But it is the fastest developing area, or thereabout, in terms of room to grow and people energy.

Generally speaking, people don't mind working in Texas. They still are motivated to produce. Some parts of the nation this is less true today.

If Texas, as Lt-Gov.-elect Bill Hobby says, has found a conscience about government reform, so much so that Common Cause opened its first state office here, then Texas is capable of incorporating the new with a steadfast hold on productivity by individual, group or private concern.

This concern about government, updating it as it were, and air conditioning, insignificant as it may sound, have thrust Texas further into a national-international leadership role. Our Gulf Coast and air travel add the global dimension. Witness that the largest jetport complex in the nation is abuilding in Dallas-Fort Worth.

Texas' role in the future is easily as large, and more modern, than its historic past.

City Permits Hit $815,650

Building permits in the city for this year have risen to $815,650, with the addition of totals for a new doctor's clinic and a new restaurant, both under construction.

Totals for new home construction have reached $252,650 for the years, with $66,800 in permits issued during June, July and August.

Remodeling, enlargements and repairs for those three months total $45,000 with a $30,000 permit for Duke and Ayres being the largest. This brings the total for the year to $74,500.

New construction now totals $374,000, with permits for $140,000 for the St. Edward doctor's clinic and a permit for $10,000 for a new restaurant under construction near the Milam Motel.

State Board Cuts Auto Insurance Rates

The cut in car insurance rates ordered by the State Insurance Board will be closer to 15 percent in Cameron than the 11 percent cut for the state which went into effect Friday.

According to a local insurance agent, the loss ratio is lower in this area than in larger cities, allowing a larger cut in liability, collision and comprehensive coverage.

For example, collision insurance that cost $46 this year will be cut to $37 when the policy is renewed within the next 12 months. Comprehensive coverage that cost $26 will be lowered to $21. One class of liability coverage that cost $52 will now cost $44.

Under the State Insurance Board's rate order, a driver can cut his premiums by another 10 percent if he takes and passes the National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course.

No plans are being made at this time to have such a course in Cameron. The courses are planned and organized by insurance agent associations and are set for some large cities in the state. Charge for the course would be $10 and drivers would have to qualify every three years.

The largest savings under this plan would be for single drivers, since it would cost a family with several drivers anywhere from $20 to $40 or $50 for the course.

According to Rep. Dan Kubiak, Gov. Preston Smith "sounded more and more this week like he'll call a special session, and pure guessing from our office puts it at September 25 or 26," Kubiak said the Governor wants competitive insurance rates in Texas and wants the current Insurance Board abolished and a single insurance commissioner appointed by the Governor for a term of two years.

Kubiak said the rate decrease that took effect Friday was the "first of any significance since the board ordered a four percent cut in 1962."

"Our office finds, however, that the cut should have been approximately 21 percent rather than the 11 percent as ordered by the board," he added.

Favored Ducks Upset By Yoemen

By Marilyn Hauk

The Cameron Yoemen started the season with a 7-0 victory over Taylor by converting the Ducks errors into pluses for Cameron.

Taylor was forced into five serious mistakes by the Yoemen -- three fumbles, an interception and a short punt. All either aided in Yoe scoring or killed Taylor's scoring threats.

Cameron maintained control of the ball for most of the first half. Late in the third quarter Cameron started their venture into Duck territory. Will Turner passed 39 yards to Jackie Chubb to put the Yoemen on the Taylor 45. George Whiteside carried the ball to the Taylor 37 for the first down.

From there the Yoemen moved slowly down field but their bid for a score at this time was spoiled by a Taylor interception.

Just before the fourth quarter the Yoemen scored their lone touchdown. Taylor punted the ball and watched it take a Cameron bounce; rolling back to the Taylor 14.

From the 14 Turner carried to the Taylor 7 and then Roland Young transported it to the Taylor 5. George Whiteside carried it in for a touchdown. Gene Kopriva, a sophmore, kicked the extra point.

In the fourth quarter things looked bad for the Yoemen but they managed to hold their own.

The Ducks started moving toward the Yoe goal but scoring was stopped by a fumble in the end zone, recovered by Stanley Rosemund. Rosemund was injured on the play.

The Yoemen played pretty much to game plan which was to control the ball and keep it away from the explosive Taylor offense.

Mistakes marred the ledger for the Yoemen in their first game of the season, but determination seemed to pull them through.

"I think we got our share of breaks," said Coach Ed Cauley after the game, "some we made, some the ball just bounced the right way. In the fourth quarter the kids had every chance to quit but never did."

International Outlaws...

Historic differences between Arab and Israeli all but destroyed the 20th Olympiad in Munich last week, but Avery Brundage wisely urged that the Games continue. They did.

Members of the Arab Black September, a fanatic guerilla group, jumped the Olympic Village fence, gunned down two of the Israeli Olympic contenders and took eight hostages by helicopter to an airport near Munich. All were killed.

German police had a massive shootout with the Arab fanatics, killing five, losing one German policeman and a helicopter pilot. A total of 17 were killed.

This is leading to a full investigation of West Germany's handling of the international incident, to put it mildly. Questions have been raised about whether or not the shootout had to be.

Willie Brandt, himself winner of a Nobel Peace Prize, personally directed efforts to free the hostages before they were killed. Israeli leaders, including Premier Golda Mier, tried to stop the Games. But Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, told some 80,000 at a memorial service for the slain Israelis that the "Games must go on."

West Germany still lives with the horrendous memory of gas ovens and prison camps in which six million Jews were slaughtered under the Nazi regime. They are more than responsive to this incredible event, the first in modern Olympic history. The Arab guerilla attack can only dim Western Germany's trade with the Arab countries, but officials believe not to total adversity.

No one can condone the events which led to the murder of these Israeli athletes. That they occurred in the idealistic climate of open competition at the world's greatest athletic event compounds the tragedy.

Only during World Wars I and II have the Games been discontinued.

It is indeed proper the Games continued and that this Arab insanity, this intrusion on one of the few international events of peaceful competition be condemned by every nation for what it is. . the act of international outlaws.

Germany's Olive Branch Stretches Toward Peking

By Bernard Melunsky

BONN

West Germany's olive branch "ostpolitik" of detente with eastern Europe is stretching across the Urals and into China, with diplomatic relations between Bonn and Peking possibly only a matter of weeks away.

Foreign Minister Walter Scheel has said it is possible he could be in Peking in October to wind up the negotiations about these ties, now going on in undisclosed venues.

From the West German point of view, many benefits will accrue from an exchange of ambassadors between the two countries -- as far apart ideologically as they are geographically, yet both emerging as political giants.

First there is bread-and-butter question of further trade. This ran at $375 million in 1971, below the level of the two previous years but still high enough to keep West Germany as China's second largest trade partner, despite the fact that they are operating without a formal trade agreement.

China itself is showing increasing interest in Europe both for economic and political reasons. The powerful economic position of West Germany within the European Common Market must be an important factor in the thinking of the Chinese leaders, who are apparently as eager as Bonn to settle the question of recognition quickly.

Then there is the question of international status.

West Germany emerged after World War II from the ruins of a divided country, branded as the agressor and viewed with suspicion in its infancy even by its new allies in the west.

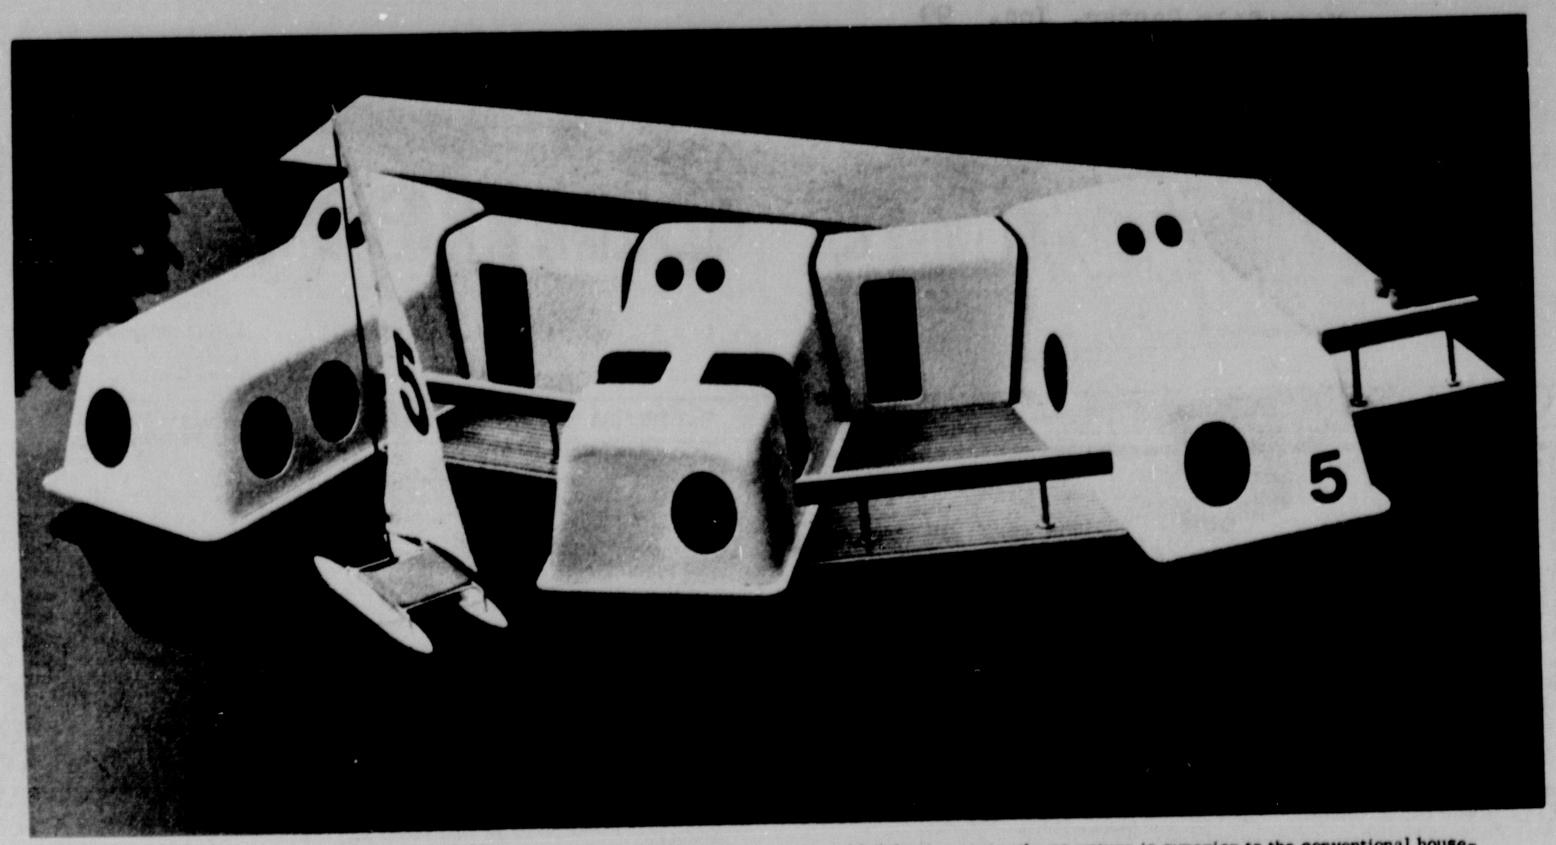
The success of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's policy of western integration and the results of Chancellor Willy Brandt's "ostpolitik" made it inevitable that sooner or later Bonn would turn toward the third potential super-power.

For a long time the way was blocked -- first by the United States anti-peking policy and then by Bonn's own delicate negotiations with Moscow to normalize relations.

Now these hurdles have been taken. The way has been cleared by President Nixon's visit to China and the admission of China to the United Nations, on the one hand, and the ratification of Bonn's treaties with Moscow and Warsaw leading to a four-power Berlin agreement, on the other.

Washington presumably approves of the Bonn-Peking contacts, and there is very little the Russians can now do in the way of threatening Bonn to keep its distance from Moscow's arch-foe.

For both West Germany and East Germany, the culmination of their progress toward full and final international recognition would be acceptance as members of the United Nations General Assembly.



WHERE TO PUT an ever-increasing population in a city whose expansion is limited by a natural water barrier? One answer is to float housing on the water itself. Such a concept was among six winning designs in the 14th annual Student Design Program sponsored by Aluminum Company of America. Modular in nature, the structure is superior to the conventional houseboat in its versatility, minimal maintenance and practical utilization of internal and external space. ALCOA PHOTO

Welfare Rolls Due Cut

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN --About 20,000 on Texas welfare rolls may lose their eligibility next month due to increased federal Social Security benefits.

Probably 110,000 more may get a cut in state Old Age Assistance as the federal benefit goes up.

However, Department of Public Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell emphasized that total income will still be higher even where state benefits drop.

Federal law requires the state welfare agencies to count Social Security income in figuring financial need for welfare grants.

Vowell said the Welfare Department is trying not to lower or deny welfare grants wherever possible.

He advised welfare recipients to notify their local aid offices of any recent changes in their need or other income.

Budgetary revisions in welfare procedures will permit continued assistance to about 4,700 old folks who otherwise would have had their welfare grants denied, Vowell said.

DEATH SENTENCES

Some 28 prisoners sentenced to death have had their sentences commuted to life imprisonment following a high court decision that capital punishment as now applied in Texas is unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin August 2 held the U.S. Supreme Court decision (now on appeal) meant sentences must either be commuted or prisoners given new trials.

A Board of Pardons and Paroles member said he did not know when inmates whose sentences have been commuted by Gov. Preston Smith actually will get the official news. He said there are 45 on death row in Texas prison and that the Board may wait until all sentences are commuted before informing either prisoners or the public.

Before action can be taken on commutations, prosecutors who do not want to start new trials must make formal written requests to the Board. In nearly all cases, local prosecutors are expected to request commutation rather than retrial.

The Board plans a meeting within the next month to take formal action.

RATE CUTS TAKE EFFECT

That 11 percent average statewide auto insurance rate cut went into effect September 1 as scheduled.

They will be available to auto owners when they purchase new policies or renew existing coverage in the next 12 months.

An additional 10 percent cut is possible after passing a National Safety Council-prescribed defensive driving course. Total reductions amount to about $70 million.

TEXAS SIXTH

Texas is sixth among destinations of vacationing American families, according to a national survey cited by Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Texas also ranks fifth in visitor spending, as well as sixth in family visits last year, according to the study commissioned by Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

With 2.8 million family vacation visits credited to the state last year, Texas was exceeded by California, 5.6 million; Florida, 5.5 million; New York, four million; Pennsylvania, 3.5 million and Tennessee, three million.

Visiting families spent $474 million in Texas, compared with $1.9 billion in Florida; $1.5 billion in California; $684 million in New York and $650 million in Hawaii.

Construction Grant Approved For Waste Water Treatment

The City of Gatesville became the 1000th Texas city to apply for a Public Law 660 construction grant for the improvement of existing wastewater treatment facilities or the construction of a new plant, it was revealed Wednesday morning at the monthly meeting of the Texas Water Quality Board.

In ceremonies recognizing the city's efforts for the abatement of water pollution, Gordon Fulcher, chairman of the Texas Water Quality Board, pointed out that Public Law 660 funds provide fenderal money for use by cities and other governmental entities in the construction of sewage treatment facilities.

Since the first Texas application for a 660 grant was processed by the Water Quality Board in 1957, the State of Texas has managed over 200 million dollars in construction grant funds.

Future funding for the next few years is expected to approach, annually, the total funding allocated over the past 15 years, according to Fulcher.

In addition, the amount of a grant to a municipality is anticipated to jump from the original 30 percent maximum (55 percent maximum at present) to 75 percent maximum assistance.

Purpose of the P. L. 660 Program is to support communities in construction of wastewater treatment facilities, to enhance the quality and value of state waters and to establish means for the prevention, control and abatement of water pollution.

Grant funds are authorized for eligible costs associated with construction costs, planning, engineering services, legal and fiscal services, and supervision and inspection of construction.

Letters

Sept. 6, 1972

Dear Editor:

Bobby Fischer is the first American that rooked the Russians out of anything since the Alaska purchase. Instead of praising him you publish an article by Robert Evans condemning him.

He wouldn't be the kind of a diplomat that would give the communists Central Europe, China and Cuba, or say take over South Vietnam (and eventually all the other countries in that part of the world) or even signing an arms agreement giving the other power a superority ratio of one and a half to one.

Yours sincerely,
Paul Dillon

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

Credit purchases have become a way of life with most of our Texas families. When the debtor refuses or is unable to meet his payments when due, his account often is turned over to a collection agency.

Most of these agencies use reputable collection methods but unfortunately some agencies choose to resort to other means which are unethical and sometimes illegal. This article will deal with abusive collection tactics.

Collection is generally initiated with a letter mailed to the debtor. This letter informs him that the account has been assigned to the agency for collection and that payment in full is demanded.

The first letter is usually mild, but subsequent letters become progressively threatening. Also, the intervals between such letters also become shorter.

After a while, the collector may do any or all of the following: (1) he may send telegrams and registered letters; (2) contact the debtor's employwer; (3) send messages that suggest legal documents; or (4) make direct personal contact with the debtor by telephone or personal visit.

Frequently, a form or printed letter is used which threatens the addition of court costs, attorney's fees, and interest in addition to the principal sum unless full payment is made.

Representing that a law suit will be brought unless prompt final payment is made constitutes debt harassment unless legal action is actually initiated. This method of collection is deceptive since it is designed to collect without the necessity of bringing a lawsuit.

The use of any printed form or letter which simulates actual court papers or bona fide legal documents is illegal.

Collection letters which have the tendency or give the appearance of emanating from a court or other source of authority are deceptive under our law.

Such forms cannot be used to collect debts even where the debt is just and valid because it tends to coerce and intimidate the debtor into paying by means of deception and false representations.

UT Budgets $70 Million

AUSTIN

The University of Texas at Austin has a regular operating budget of $70.9 million for the 1972-73 year.

Of that amount, more than $40.8 million is earmarked for resident instruction (including faculty salaries, departmental operating costs, instructional administration and organized activities).

Other items in the operating budget are for libraries, organized research, Division of Extension activities, and physical plant operation and maintenance.

Bullock Chides Connally For Republican Support

Secretary of State Bob Bullock said Wednesday, "I am disgusted by the recent defections of several pretended Democrats to the Republican Party in support of Richard Nixon and John Tower.

"It is an insult to the intelligence of Texas voters for John Connally and his band of political gypsies to claim that they are Democrats for Republicans.

"No one actively involved in politics could seriously think that he could keep the label of the party of the people, while helping the party of the few. That's like putting a bean label on a can of caviar. Of course, people like Connally and Nixon may think caviar is beans, but real Democrats know better.

"A more appropriate designation for Connally's Moneycrats for Nixon might be Ex-Democrats for Nixon or Turncoats for Nixon. There is no such thing as a Democrat for Nixon.

"Their defensiveness about the subject raises the serious question of whether Connally and his political proteges are ashamed of being Republicans.

"I remember back in my hometown of Hillsboro we used to have a couple of Republicans. The rest of us used to look at them with a little suspicion --- like a mule looking at a new gate. Maybe that's why Connally and his boys are ashamed to admit that they have become Republicans.

"John Connally and his political groupies were Democrats out of convenience, not out of conscience. Now they are Republicans by choice. It is funny that some people's political loyalty disintegrates when the control of the powerful few is threatened, and someone like Senator George McGovern stands up to return government control to the people.

"The real Democrats in 1972 will support and vote for the Democratic ticket from top to bottom."

Enrollment Levels For Universities

AUSTIN

An enrollment plateau of about 40,000 students -- only a modest increase over the past two years -- is expected to be reached this fall at The University of Texas.

Dr. David Hershey, UT's new registrar and director of admissions, says the leveling off of enrollment reflects a national trend that is due in part to several factors:

--Fewer people in the college-age population.

--Fewer high school graduates being interested immediately in college.

--More "stop-outs" who work for several years before beginning or completing a college education.

Retired Teachers To Hear Kubiak

Rep. Dan Kubiak will speak to the Retired Teachers Association of Milam County at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 13 at the Cameron Community Center, according to H. D. Maxwell.

Kubiak will speak on no-fault insurance and increased benefits for retired teachers.

Coeds Enroll In NROTC

DALLAS

Seventeen coeds seeking a career in the U. S. Navy will make history this fall when they become the first distaffers to enroll in the U. S. Navy's NROTC (Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps) Scholarship Program at four universities.

The universities are: Purdue, Southern, Jacksonville and University of Washington. Purdue will enroll seven coeds August 26. Southern will enroll two August 28. Jacksonville and Washington will have four each with enrollments scheduled for September 4 and 25 respectively.

The Secretary of the Navy announced on Feb. 5, 1972 his decision to open the NROTC program to females for the first time in Navy history. In making that announcement, he said, "It seems only fair that women coming to us should have the advantages of a college scholarship just as our men do."

The NROTC scholarship change in favor of women is being continued under the direction of the new Navy Secretary, John W. Warner, and Chief of Naval Operations Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt.

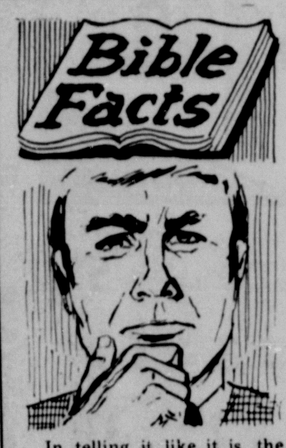
SALAD FOR LOVERS

"Lettuce alone" has been termed "honeymoon salad." For your second honeymoon, however, you'll probably want to mix it up with your husband, who, you hope, still thinks of you as a cute tomato. Here is a salad recipe about which he won't be as cool as a cucumber.

Beany Egg Salad

6 hard-boiled eggs, coarsely chopped.
1 can (1 pound) pork and beans.
1/4 cup chopped green onions, including tops.
Pfeiffer Caesar Dressing (to taste).
Salt (to taste).
3-4 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled.
1/4 cup minced parsley.

Drain beans. Add remaining ingredients and toss lightly. Serve on chilled salad greens. Makes 6 servings.



In telling it like it is, the Bible cautions us against leading a self-centered life: "He that loveth his life shall lose it." (John 12:25)

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

25 Years of Progress

The year 1971 is a unique and memorable one for mental health.

This year marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of the enactment of the National Mental Health Act; and 17 national organizations are sponsoring a two-day conference in June to commemorate the historic event.

It was a quarter of a century ago that President Harry Truman signed the Act, on July 3, 1946, which had—and still has because the Act is still in force—this stated goal:

"The purpose of this Act is the improvement of the mental health of the people of the United States."

The signing of the Act paved the way for the establishment of the National Institute of Mental Health and made possible the birth and growth of a truly nationwide and national mental health program.

The last 25 years have been years of more accomplishments and progress against mental illness than all of the years of our previous history.

For the future, the present state of knowledge and the research, training, and mental health services programs now underway promises that even greater gains can be made.

Two examples of the remarkable gains made in the past quarter-century give credance to this belief.

Perhaps the major example is that of the development and use of psychoactive — mind-affecting—drugs. There is a wide spectrum of these drugs available to the physician today, and they have been and are responsible for ameliorating the suffering of literally millions of emotionally and mentally disturbed people.

Another example of progress is in the still-continuing decline in the numbers of people in State and county mental hospitals. Over the past year, there was a decline of 9.5 percent in the numbers of patients resident in these hospitals. This is the fifteenth straight year that these numbers have declined. Moreover, since 1964, the decrease has been accelerating each year.

Better treatments, including drugs, and the development of community mental health services are among the factors leading to this very substantial gain —which means great savings both in human suffering and economic costs.

We confidently expect, then, that, if the nationwide attack on mental illness is continued and strengthened in the coming years as it has been in the past, this silver anniversary commemoration will be but a prelude to a golden one 25 years from now.

The 32 x 24 building and a smaller version across the field was built by Yoe FHA members (with the exception of brick work) who will man the stands during athletic events throughout the year. Poage Raps House Bill

According to Cong. W. R. Poage, some unemployed workers may be drawing more for not working than they had been receiving for working.

In his weekly newsletter, Poage criticized the House for passing a bill which would conceivably allow this to happen. It was the "Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1972," and passed by a vote of 285 to 92.

Much of the bill provided for normal construction. Poage said, but it contained what was called "Title 8," on which it was admitted the Committee had never had one moment of hearings and which provided no work whatever for recipients.

"This Title undertook to recognize what I think is a sound principle," Poage said. "It proposed to have the government bear the cost of losses sustained by individual workers in industries closed as a result of compliance with Federal laws intended to improve the quality of the environment.

"Certainly, this is a proper concept, but unless the implications of such legislation are considered and worked out in advance, it can become intolerably burdensome."

The bill provides for payment of 60 percent of any displaced employee's wages by the Federal government for 18 months after he becomes unemployed.

"The bill makes no provision for any reduction in the workers regular unemployment compensation, which is normally about 50 percent of the wage," Poage continued. "It would, therefore, be possible, at least in some cases, for a worker to draw more for not working than he had been receiving for working."

The bill also provides that the government shall pay mortgage or rental payments due by the displaced person on his home for a year, also that the government shall pay moving expenses.

Poage said he finds it hard to vote against a well-meaning proposal, but he voted against this bill because he thinks both the "Congress and the President must accept a degree of financial responsibility, else our country will fall victim to the wildest kind of inflation."
